One way to bring Innovative FOSS and Linux solutions to your organization

Here is an effective way to try out Linux or FOSS (Free and Open Source Software) to help grow your organization. Hat tip to CIO magazine for Adam Hartung's short little InnovationZone article "Outsource for Growth".

Mr. Hartung recommends outsourcing to grow your organization ... to do new things ... to innovate ... to be more flexible. Since your IT staff is probably too busy to take on growth projects like these, it makes a lot of sense to use consulting experts, like LinuxForce, to develop, test, and provision innovative FOSS infrastructure for you. How could your organization benefit from the outsourcing for innovation approach to build out a FOSS or Linux-based solution to grow your business?
