VIDEO: Elizabeth Krumbach on the SDForum Panel Discussion on Women and Open Source

On March 31, LinuxForce's Elizabeth Krumbach participated in the SDForum panel discussion on "Tech Women: Women and Open Source". There was a wide ranging discussion starting with a basic introduction to "open source" and how to get involved in open source. Other issues covered included special issues with the involvement of women, mentoring, business, and entrepreneurship. The Google Open Source Blog also reviewed the session.

Video of the panel discussion is online. Part 1 is 52 minutes.
